

Summer Student Exchange Research Opportunity for Undergraduates

The University of Puerto Rico-Mayaguez in partnership with the National Radio Astronomy Observatory, Cabrillo College, Norfolk State University and the University of Texas at San Antonio is providing a summer 2024 Research and Training Experience (RTE) for URM students in STEM fields including Astronomy, Radio Astronomy, Physics, Engineering, Computer Science and Data Science.

The cohort will include selected students from the University of Puerto Rico-Mayaguez who will attend a Research and Training Experience at either Norfolk State University or the University of Texas at San Antonio and selected students from Cabrillo College, Norfolk State University and the University of Texas at San Antonio who will attend a Research and Training Experience at the University of Puerto-Rico Mayaguez.

Benefits:

- Generous summer stipend ($6,000 + funding for travel and lodging)
- Guided research project with mentorship
- Field trips and site-specific activities before and during the summer
- Professional development workshops
- Opportunity to receive 3 credit hours
-

Program Dates: late May-early August 2024 (program dates may vary by site)

Application Due Date: Admission to the program is rolling until full with a final application deadline of Friday, March 29, 2024 at 11 PM EST. We encourage you to submit your application early.

Eligibility:

- Current undergraduate student UPR-M, Cabrillo College, NSU or UTSA
- Completed basic coursework in computer science/programming, physics and calculus

Apply Today!

<https://forms.gle/ujwkRR7KRpXbmdfDg>

